OVERVIEW

The knowledge I gained from my master's degree program, my teaching experience for 12 years, and my self-determination have enabled me to achieve my professional goals. Given the opportunity, I would like to further learn more about linguistics, applied linguistics, and sociolinguistics. Earnestly, I am enthusiastic to acquaint myself with the new trends on research and teaching methodology that interest me. Also, through my previous position as the head of the Foreign Languages Department and as the former head of English for International Communication Program, I have been able to show my dedication at work as well as my desire to improve myself, the learners, and the institution I am part of.
